

FORMING A UNION.

Treaty Reported Between the Central American States.

NATION CONTEMPLATED

of the More Important Provisions of the Document as Outlined in Washington Dispatches—Arbitration For the Settlement of Difficulties—Uniform Tariff—Secretary Gresham Worse.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—New treaties of importance have recently been made between Nicaragua and Honduras, and official copies have just been received in Washington. The treaties have been under negotiation for some time, and were finally put into effect by proclamation on the 15th of the month. They are the first practical step toward the formation of a Central American republic out of the several republics, Nicaragua, Honduras, Guatemala, Salvador and Costa Rica. The first treaty forms a defensive alliance against common enemies. It obliges the commercial frontiers so that goods once admitted to one country are free to enter the other. An exception is made against the possibility of war between the countries an article requiring differences to be settled by arbitration of some government of the American continent.

Article 33 is the one looking to the formation of a single nation, and is as follows: "The high contracting parties hereby declare that they cannot and do not consider as foreign the other Central American countries and that they will labor constantly to maintain family bonds and the greatest cordiality in their relations making a common cause with them in case of war or conflict with foreign countries and endeavoring in their international relations to this end the present treaty is submitted to their consideration, and they agree to subscribe to it as a Central American treaty, upon the arrival of the day when they shall be incorporated into a single nation."

Arbitration and Uniform Tariff. Article 4 arranges a plan of arbitration affecting all Central American States. Succeeding articles agree on uniform postal, tariff and other laws, and diplomatic representation, etc. In every way possible the treaty line is wiped out and the result forms a complete political union.

Article 19 expresses the extent of this union as follows: "The said contractants, desirous of acting jointly in everything affecting their interests, endeavoring to make uniform the foreign policy and to have a common representative before other nations, endeavor to agree upon a basis which they shall conclude subsequent treaties with foreign nations and concessions to steamship, railroad and other companies."

Is a Practical Step. There has been more or less conjecture as to the formation of a Central American nation, but this treaty appears to be the first practical step toward its accomplishment. Its proclamation at Tegucigalpa on April 15 was followed by a meeting at Managua of the ministers of Salvador and Honduras and the other republics with a view to signing article 53 for the acceptance of the treaty by all of the countries. The text of another Nicaraguan-Honduran treaty has also been received, providing for the arbitration of their disputes by a commission to be chosen by the two countries, and if agreement on a commission is not reached, then Spain is constituted final arbitrator.

GRESHAM IS WORSE.

Relapse Saturday Night—Friends Telegraphed For.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A decidedly favorable change in Secretary Gresham's condition occurred Saturday night, it is said that for some time he was in a serious condition. This change was the result of a recurrence of stomach troubles from which he was recently earlier in his illness somewhat better yesterday he felt the effect of the attack of Saturday, but last night was reported to be better. It is understood that his son, Mr. Landis, his private secretary, have been telegraphed to come to Washington.

Condition of the Sick.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Representative Hitt's condition remains about the same. It was said at Mrs. Blaine's house last night that Miss Mary A. Hitt (Gail Hamilton) was slightly better. She still remains unconscious of the time and no hope of her recovery is held out.

Murder in a Saloon.

WASHINGTON, Ind., May 27.—In a saloon last night over a game of pool in a saloon, John Horner hit John Smith on the head with a cue and killed him. Horner was arrested. Both are young men.

Hewitt and Conway Indicted.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 27.—A special grand jury has investigated the recent dynamite explosion at Parker City, which killed Mrs. Hewitt's home, and all but killed the woman and her father. Joseph Hewitt, the woman's husband, and Charles Conway, who worked in Hewitt's livery stable, were indicted for the crime, each charged with assault and battery with intent to murder.

DEADLY RIFLE BALL.

Accidental Discharge of a Winchester Kills Two Young Girls.

NASHVILLE, May 27.—News was reached this city of a frightful tragedy which occurred near Chestnut Mount, Smith county, on Friday last, as a result of which two young daughters of Samuel McKinney are dead, while his baby is slightly wounded.

Mr. McKinney had been out on his farm with a Winchester rifle and approaching the house, handed the gun to his 23-year-old son Henry, requesting him to take it in the house. Approaching the front door Henry decided to unload the gun and thinking he had removed the loads he let the hammer fall only to hear a report and feel the gun recoil in his hands. Through the door the bullet sped and through the bodies of the two sisters who were close together just inside the door. The elder was 8 years old, the other being a few years younger, and both were instantly killed, while a 9 months old infant was also slightly wounded.

KENTUCKY TRAGEDY.

Shooting Affray in a Church Yard—One Killed, One Fatally Wounded.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., May 27.—A bad shooting affray took place at the Troy Presbyterian church, on the line between this county and Woodford, yesterday at 12 o'clock, between George and John Montgomery, brothers, and Arch D. Riley. Riley was killed and George Montgomery fatally wounded. Five shots were exchanged, one taking effect on Montgomery, and three on Riley.

The trouble is of long standing and grew out of Riley deceiving a sister of Montgomery's two years ago and then refusing to live with her. The men met at the church and the fight ensued.

Both families are very prominent and the affair has created a great sensation. The great wonder is that others were not killed while the shooting was going on, as the churchyard was filled with people.

FOR AN EXTRAVAGANT WIFE.

This Is the Excuse of a Postal Clerk For Robbing the Mails.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 27.—Samuel F. Holliday, one of the trusted letterclerks in the St. Joseph postoffice, was taken from his bed shortly before daylight yesterday morning by Inspector George Sutton and charged with robbing the mails. When taken before Postmaster Atkinson he confessed. Holliday's plan was to steal promising looking letters from the Grand Island mail, take out a part of the money whenever he found any, and then remain the letters. He confessed that he had been stealing since January and had taken a large amount. The postoffice department has had men at work on the case for four months and has spent $3,000 running Holliday down. Holliday stole to support an extravagant wife.

ELECTRIC CAR ACCIDENT.

Crashes Into a Wagon, Killing One Person and Injuring Five Others.

CHICAGO, May 27.—A South Chicago electric car, drawing a trailer, crashed into a wagon containing five persons at Seventy-ninth street and Yates avenue, last night. The wagon demolished, one woman was killed, another woman probably fatally injured and a third slightly injured, and two young men slightly hurt. The killed and injured are:

FRANCESKA RUZEWICKI, aged 58, widow, instantly killed.

Marianna Wiska, aged 50, widow, hurt internally, may die.

Agnes Ruzewicki, aged 25, bruised; not serious.

Thomas Ruzewicki, body bruised.

Stanislaw Poszewski, slightly bruised.

Chief Byrnes Will Retire.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Advertiser of today says that Chief Thomas Byrnes of the police department has decided to resign. It will not surprise his close friends if he severs his connection with the force Tuesday. He has realized the existence of antagonism to him ever since the mayor appointed the four new police commissioners and he does not care to fight the new board, so he will take off his shield and retire forever.

Three Persons Drowned.

ONSTED, Mich., May 27.—William Doolittle, a married man, and Bert Salisbury and Mina Patterson, both single, while fishing Saturday afternoon on Mahars lake, fell overboard and were drowned. No one else was present to tell how the accident occurred. The bodies were found in 20 feet of water near where the boat was anchored.

Oratorical Contest.

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—The annual contest for the Paulian oratorical medal took place at the Christian Brothers' college yesterday in the presence of a splendid gathering of representative citizens of St. Louis clerical and lay. J. Elias Croarkin, 35, won first honors; Messrs. John Godfrey and J. Desmet Maguire, next in merit.

Oscar Wilde In Prison Garb.

LONDON, May 27.—Wilde and Taylor, who were sentenced Saturday for heinous crimes, attended the prison chapel at Pentonville yesterday. Their hair was cropped and they were in the prison garb. The late prisoners will only be allowed to see their friends four times in the year on condition of their good conduct.

Drowned by the Capsizing of a Boat.

CLEVELAND, May 27.—Louis Penne, agent in this city for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, was drowned yesterday by the capsizing of a boat in which he was rowing with two companions. He was a prominent German citizen.

MUNICIPAL REFORMS.

Meeting of the National League at Cleveland This Week.

MUCH INTEREST IN WORK.

Outline of the Matters Which Will Command the Attention of the Coming Conference—Who Will Be Present and What They Will Talk About—Something Philadelphiens to the Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Judging from the very general attention given by the newspapers to the forthcoming meeting of the National Municipal league, to be held the last three days of this month in Cleveland, the concern for the future welfare of the larger cities is growing. This meeting will be the third of its kind held within two years. At the first conference, held in Philadelphia, the general features of the problem were given consideration, and the municipal conditions of the leading eastern cities were described.

This meeting was followed by the organization of the National Municipal league. The second meeting was held in Minneapolis, and western cities were given attention and specific remedies, such as proportional representation, discussed. Both of these meetings were influential in bringing together the prominent and active workers in the cause of municipal reform, and the interchange of views and experiences has proved to have been of value in the advancement of the cause throughout the country.

The third conference, in conjunction with which the first annual meeting of the National Municipal League will be held, meets in Cleveland upon the invitation of the Cleveland chamber of commerce and the Civic Federation. The former is an active business organization of nearly 1,500 members. It has had quarters in the Arcade, where the sessions of the conference will be held; but at an early date it expects to begin the erection of a building of its own. The Civic Federation is a new body which has been about a year in forming. Hon. E. J. Blandin, the author of the present charter under which the city is working, known as the "federal plan," is the president.

Large Gathering Anticipated.

The present prospects indicate the presence of a large and representative gathering. The programme as arranged provides for the consideration of the municipal condition of about 18 cities, mostly of the second class. This portion of previous programmes has always proven of exceptional interest and judging from the prominence of this year's speakers the same will be true at this time. The three Pacific coast cities—San Francisco, Seattle and Portland—will be represented by Messrs. I. T. Milken, Edward O. Graves and Thomas N. Strong, respectively. Ex-Mayor Platt Rogers will give an account of the political conditions of Denver, and Rev. Gregory J. Powell will speak for Omaha. Another minister, who will serve with Mr. Powell, will speak for Detroit—Rev. Donald D. McLaughlin. Mayor George W. Ochs, who will read the paper on Chattanooga, is credited with reducing the city's running expenses during his administration from $302,144 per annum to $189,200. This, it is said, was accomplished without curtailing any legitimate expense or in any way crippling the healthy development of the city.

Among the other cities, the municipal conditions of which will be described, are Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Louisville, New Orleans, Jersey City, Buffalo and Washington.

Who Will Be Heard.

John Willis Bear, secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, has prepared a report of what endeavors have done during the last year or two in behalf of better city government. The question of good city government will be considered from the physicians' standpoint by John S. Killings, M. D., deputy surgeon general U. S. A. and professor of hygiene in the University of Pennsylvania and one of the most distinguished sanitarians in the country; and from women's standpoint by Mrs. C. A. Runkle of New York city, who is actively identified with the Civic league, the successors of the Women's municipal league, that labored so earnestly for Mayor Strong's election. Rev. Washington Gladden, D. D., of Columbus will discuss it from the ministers' standpoint in his paper on "Civic Religion." Dr. Gladden has been among the foremost in preaching the gospel of civic regeneration, has been numerous articles and books have had an influence in bringing about the present general interest in the subject.

Charles A. Bonaparte of Baltimore, Theodore Roosevelt and James C. Carter will be the speakers at a mass-meeting on Wednesday evening. Mr. Carter will preside over the conference.

Attracting Widespread Interest.

Clinton Rogers Woodruff of this city, the secretary of the National Municipal League, has devoted weeks of his time to the preliminary arrangements for the coming meeting. Mr. Woodruff said yesterday in an interview:

If widespread newspaper discussion is any indication of popular interest in a question, then there must be general and widespread interest in what pertains to municipal government. Not only do we find papers specially devoted to its consideration coming into the field and magazine articles, books and pamphlets in increasing quantities, but the daily and weekly papers of every city devote valuable editorials to the discussion of the various phases of the municipal problems and the general movement. This is a good sign, for in these latter days we do not find the press devoting any considerable space to subjects in which their readers are but little concerned. One important and encouraging feature of this latter day municipal reform movement is the general interest manifested by every class in the community. The Cleveland conference demonstrates this. Lawyers, clergymen, physicians, bankers, businessmen, manufacturers, editors, all are represented on the programme.

WHAT WILL COME NEXT?

Telegraph News Put Into Type Through a Typesetting-machine Operator.

LOUISVILLE, May 27.—An unique and successful experiment was made here yesterday when telegraph news was taken from the wire directly by a type-setting-machine operator. The introduction of the typewriter into the telegraph business has been a means of greatly facilitating the transmission of the press service and several newspaper men of this city have been experimenting of late with a view to doing away with the typewriter and substituting therefore the linotype machine, thus setting the news for the paper directly from the wire.

Yesterday morning one of the Associated Press loops was run into The Evening Post composing room and B. G. Boyle, managing editor of The Post, and Richard Cogan, chief operator of the Associated Press, who are both telegraph and linotype operators, succeeded in receiving dispatches and putting them in type directly from the wire.

The experiment made proves that the telegraph can be worked successfully with the typesetting machine and a maximum rate of speed of 50 words a minute attained. In an hour's work an average speed of 30 words per minute was maintained.

WAS QUIETLY BURIED.

Funeral of a Woman Who Claimed That She Was Jesus Christ.

CINCINNATI, May 27.—Mrs. Hannah Martin, the divorced wife of J. B. Martin, was buried so quietly yesterday that the knowledge of the fact was only obtained from the health office. Several years ago she got a national reputation by announcing that she was Jesus Christ.

Quite a number of people gathered around her as worshippers. They were mostly religious zealots from well-to-do families. All efforts to dispel this delusion failed. Her following clung to her till the last. Her husband, an excellent man, obtained a divorce. Her death, which occurred last Thursday, was kept a secret to the last. Very few know where she was buried.

OLD MAN'S CRIME.

Charged With an Attempt to Poison His Two Sons.

VIROQUA, Wis., May 27.—Andrew Engerbreton, an old farmer living in Coon Valley, was arrested yesterday on the charge of attempting to murder his two sons, one of his son's wives and cousin by poisoning them with arsenic. The poison was put in the coffee, and after breakfast all were taken sick. Medical aid was summoned and the poisoned persons were saved. Engerbreton, who is 60 years old, is accused of frequently making threats against his family. He is not living with his sons and it is charged that he entered the house during the night and placed the poison in the coffee pot.

NAIL TRUST FORMING.

All the Plants in the Country In It Except Two.

PITTSBURG, May 27.—The Dispatch today announces that a wirenail trust is in process of formation. Only a few details remain to be arranged. A feature of the deal is reported to be the sale of the Beaver Falls plant to the Consolidated Steel and Wire company. It is said that all the plants of the country will be in the combine except the Philadelphia and Joliet mills, which are operated by Booker & Co. of Pittsburgh, under lease. Manufacturers of wirenails have refused to quote prices for delivery after June 1. It is also stated on good authority that the cutnail manufacturers are trying to form a combination.

THE DANVILLE LYNCHING.

Coroner Holds an Inquest Over the Dead Bodies—Miss Barnett Improving.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 27.—The coroner's inquest "was held over the bodies of John Halls, Jr., and William Royce, who were taken from the jail here Saturday morning and hung to the railroad bridge, returned a verdict that the men came to their death by being hanged with ropes in the hands of men unknown to the jury.

Miss Barnett, the young woman on whom the assault was committed, is improving rapidly and will soon be able to be out again.

TELEGRAPH TICKS.

The special session of the Missouri legislature has adjourned.

Secretary Carlisle spoke at Bowling Green, Ky., Saturday to a large audience. The Republican county convention at Cleveland endorsed Governor McKinley for president.

John A. Morris, the New York horseman, died yesterday at his ranch at Kerrville, Tex., of apoplexy.

Ex-Congressman Bryan addressed an audience of 5,000 on the silver question at Jackson Tenn., Saturday.

Nebraska crop reports are to the effect that small grain is much below the average. There was little damage from frosts.

The Knights of Labor have established headquarters in Washington, and are putting up a 3-story building for that purpose.

Well Known Horseman the Victim of an Unprovoked Assault.

KNOCKED DOWN AND KICKED

Young Woman Commits Suicide Because Her Parents Interfered In Her Proposed Marriage—Suit to Test Fee and Salary Law Commenced In Vigo County—Notes of the State.

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind., May 27.—John S. Lackey, the well known horseman, was the victim of an unprovoked assault Saturday evening. Mr. Lackey had just stepped out of a barbershop when he was accosted by William Moore and Edward Detrick, two men employed here in the waterworks, and both hailing from Muncie, who addressed an insulting remark to him and then knocked him down. While down Lackey was kicked several times in the chest. Mr. Lackey was unable to make any resistance, and would have been killed but for the timely arrival of friends. For a time mob violence was threatened against the toughs. Moors and Detrick were taken into custody by the city marshal. Mr. Lackey is badly used up.

WOULD NOT GO TO WORK.

Imported Hungarians Claim a Violation of Their Contract.

ANDERSON, Ind., May 27.—Labor circles here are somewhat agitated over the action of the Arcade file company shipping in 14 Hungarians. The foreigners have refused to go to work, stating that they had signed their contract in New York before accepting the passage offered them to this city. They were, according to this contract, they claim, to get $1.50 to begin with, as they became proficient they were to get $2.50 and $3 per day. When they reported at the plant Mr. Weed offered them $4 a week and refused to give them any more. They have consulted attorneys to bring action. Mr. Weed says he is positive Mr. Clark, the manager, now in New York, did not offer them over $4 per week. They are stranded and cannot get away.

BANK OFFICERS INDICTED.

Charged With Embezzlement, Grand Larceny and Receiving Stolen Property.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., May 27.—The grand jury, which adjourned Saturday, found three indictments against Dr. W. L. Breyfogle, Clarence J. Frederick and J. S. Winstandley, officials of the New Albany Banking company, charging them with grand larceny, embezzlement and receiving stolen property. They were indicted jointly on several counts. The total bond of the three was fixed at $10,500. They will have a hearing June 12. The case is exciting much interest.

Was Crossed In Love.

OAKLAND CITY, Ind., May 27.—Miss Minnie Tower, living near this city, hanged herself Saturday because her parents withheld their consent to her marrying a young Missourian, and took from her the $20 that the young man had sent to her as fare to his home, where they were to be married. She left a letter stating that as they had said they would rather bury her than have her marry they would now have a chance.

Test Suit Commenced.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 27.—A suit was filed here Saturday to test the fee and salary law of 1891, with reference to the fees of the county treasurer and county auditor. It was brought against County Treasurer John L. Walsh, whose attorney is ex-Congressman Lamb. This will give the supreme court a chance to say under what law, if any, the county treasurer is to be paid his fees. The action is the result of the recent meeting of county treasurers at Indianapolis.

Drowned While Fishing.

WABASH, Ind., May 27.—Albert Hagg, aged 20, living near Pierceton, has been drowned in one of the Barbée lakes. Young Hagg and two friends were handling a gillnet on the lake, and Hagg, losing a stake belonging to the net, leaned over the boat to secure it and, upset the skiff, throwing all three in the water. Hagg could not swim, and failing to reach the boat was drowned. The others clung to the upturned boat until help came.

Rev. Hinshaw In Jail.

DANVILLE, Ind., May 27.—Rev. William Hinshaw was arrested on Saturday and placed in jail here. Great interest is being manifested in the case, and sentiment is divided as to his guilt or innocence. The trial will not occur until September. He has employed the best legal talent and will make a hard fight.

Will Go to China.

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 26.—The Methodist Episcopal Missionary society has appointed Lon E. Davidson, a well known young lawyer of this city, to the position of assistant treasurer and instructor in the M. E. school at Pekin, China. He will sail for that country in August.

Fruit House Damaged.

LAFORTE, Ind., May 27.—An incendiary fire was started Saturday morning in the wholesale fruit house of D. L. Flory. The loss on the building and contents is $2,500. An unsuccessful attempt to burn the same structure was made last Sunday night.

INDIANA ITEMS.

An oil well has been opened at New Corydon, Jay county. This extends the Indiana field to the Ohio line.

Henry Watterson delivered his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln" at the Knights-town high school commencement exercises.

The Hull-Treat spiritualistic-religious debate at Muncie yielded $25 to be divided between the contestants. This is the only part of the verdict agreed upon.

A Laporte county jury has awarded James S. Long $3,000 for property destroyed by the Chicago and Alton railroad, caused by sparks from an engine.

Floes, frost and dry weather have about destroyed the wheat in the vicinity of McCordsville. Much of it is being plowed up and planted in corn.

Thomas Mack, a weakminded youth, has been arrested at Terre Haute charged with numerous incendiary fires which have recently occurred in that city.

John King, a wealthy farmer near Tasswell, was assaulted and robbed while feeding his stock. Bloodhounds were put on the track and as a result Wesley Ingie, a neighbor, has been arrested.

Owen Chambers, a Jeffersonville tough, objected to being arrested by a negro constable and several shots were fired in the altercation which followed. The police gathered him in and now he languishes in jail.

John McCarty, charged with an attempt to murder Jacob Wolf at Carthage, Rush county, last October, has been sent to prison for three years by the Henry county court, where the trial occurred on a change of venue.

It is about time for President Cleveland to quit talking about the democratic party being the "party of the people." The people of the United States have definitely settled in the past several elections that the democratic party is not the party of the people by a long ways.

By their criticisms of the supreme court of the United States the democratic papers of Putnam are not making very much impression so far as the court is concerned. They should remember that the supreme court is the last resort. It is composed of brainy men and their decision is past appeal. One of these papers states that the late decision will tend to increase the ranks of anarchists and cranks. Railery in newspaper columns at the supreme court of the United States will tend to increase the ranks of cranks more than will decisions of that court. It is a direct stab at the constitution of the United States and the foundation of the nation and is in itself an act well-nigh kin to the anarchism the papers so greatly fear. Criticism of lower courts by newspapers is occasionally well placed and well merited but an attack on the supreme court is out of place because that court is a final decision, so established by the constitution. All the newspaper roars on earth cannot avail against a supreme court decision and other than exciting the inflammable minds of cranks and anarchists the democratic papers will accomplish nothing. This last income tax, which was a failure in all its provisions, was an entirely different income tax from the one at the close of the war. Democratic monkeying with the tariff will have to stand without the aid of an income tax as a monument before the people until the republicans can tear it down with better laws, and the deficiency in revenues will continue to increase, until the republicans elect a president and again place the nation in a healthy condition when it will need no more income laws.

THERE has been much said about DePauw university, pro and con, in the great daily papers and now that the financial affairs of the university have been dug into the public is taking a great interest. To what extent the published reports are correct or untrue we are unable to state, and there should be nothing printed in that line except facts. Until the exact status of the finances are made known there is little to say about them. All sensational reports, however, should be taken with some allowance. An unofficial statement is always open to correction, and we believe when the exact condition is given out, if it is done, that some of the reports will be found to be wanting.

Woman's Club Reception.

On Saturday afternoon the Woman's club tendered an elite reception to Helen H. Gardener, of Boston, who for several days has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ridpath. The ladies of the city were out in force to extend their respects to the distinguished visitor, who departed today for her home. Mrs. Gardener had been visiting here since Thursday. On Wednesday night at Indianapolis she read before the "Contemporary Club" a sketch from her latest book, "An Unofficial Patriot," which is a Greencastle story. The writer is a former Greencastle lady, and the story is an account of the life and patriotic services of Rev. A. G. Chenoweth, who came here from Virginia before the war, and subsequently became a guide in the Union army in the Shenandoah valley. He was well known here for a long time, died here and his remains are interred in Forest Hill. Mrs. Gardener is his youngest daughter, and besides being a novelist of rising reputation, is the assistant editor of the Arena magazine. She made a neat speech at the reception.

State Press Opinions.

Several of the metropolitan papers are devoting considerable space to DePauw university matters, and on Sunday the Journal of Indianapolis and Commercial-Gazette of Cincinnati contained similar articles touching on the finances of the institution. Some of the statements are said to be by trustees here to be overdrawn and unreasonable. Concerning the statement printed in Sunday's Journal, that paper says editorially:

The statement printed in the Sunday Journal relative to the business and financial management of DePauw university bears evidence on its face of being correct and truthful as far as it goes. There may be more and worse behind, but the present disclosures are bad enough. The statement will be a surprise and disappointment to the friends of this honored institution, for, while it does not disclose anything absolutely crooked or dishonest in its business management, it does show a degree of incompetence and disregard of business methods which ought never to be found in connection with the management of an important trust. The trustees of the university are, of course, not responsible for any diminution of the DePauw bequest by the shrinkage of values caused by the panic of 1893, though it should seem that with proper diligence and good business management they ought to have got the bequest pretty well in hand before the panic came. Mr. DePauw died in May, 1887. His bequest to the university at that time was estimated at $1,500,000, and it is so stated in biographical sketches of a later date. If the six years between Mr. DePauw's death and the panic had been properly utilized by the trustees in getting the business in hand, it would not have to be recorded that the original bequest of $1,500,000 is to suffer a shrinkage of $1,200,000. But far more censurable than this delay has been the utter lack of business methods that has characterized the management, or mismanagement rather, of the remnant of the bequest. The narrative of this mismanagement, with its bungled transactions, bad investments, bad loans and bad assets, suggests that the university does not need a president or a chancellor as much as it does a guardian. If the affairs of any private estate or public institution had been so mismanaged the matter would be taken into court immediately and a thorough investigation would follow. In the present case it is not for the Journal to say what should be done, but the friends of the university will doubtless recognize the necessity for prompt action. Their first impulse, doubtless, will be to deprecate this disclosure and the probable injury to the university, but that is an erroneous view. The scandal is in the mismanagement of the institution's affairs, not in the disclosure. The longer the disclosure was postponed the worse it would have been for the university. It would have been much better if the incompetence of its business management had been exposed years ago. The Journal is not in a position to say how far the mismanagement of the university's business affairs is responsible for the recent resignation of Dr. John, but certainly a board of trustees who could so mismanage the finances of the institution ought not to meddle with its educational interests. Nor could any president accomplish much under such management, for where so much money was being thrown at birds and blown into bad investments there could not have been much to apply to the improvement of educational methods.

Mr. Ash at Martinsville.

The Commercial club met Friday evening and decided to donate the use of an acre of ground to G. Ash, of Farmland, Ind., who is out in country today looking at the supply of second growth ash and white oak timber available here. If he should find sufficient timber to warrant moving here, he will locate a handle factory here which will use the kinds of timber named above and asks the site for the same free, he to erect his own buildings. He will employ about fifty men and would use an abundance of this timber. The supply of such timber here is said by timber men to be enormous.

Under the schedule which took effect yesterday the Knickerbocker express, over the Big Four, makes the run fifteen minutes quicker than under the old schedule, which makes it the fastest scheduled train ever run between Terre Haute and Indianapolis.—Indianapolis Journal.

In today's Indianapolis Journal appears the following: Rev. Dr. Sims, who is in close sympathy with the board of trustees of DePauw university, was asked yesterday about the reported mismanagement of the board in caring for the finances of the institution. He thought that the report was erroneous, but would say nothing further.

A large audience of G. A. R. and W. R. C. members assembled at College Avenue M. E. church yesterday morning to hear the memorial sermon by Dr. Hollingsworth. Elder A. H. Morris assisted in the exercises. The music was appropriate the audience singing "America" and words set to "Marching through Georgia." Rev. Hollingsworth's sermon was especially adapted to the day.

At six o'clock Saturday evening an alarm from box 53 called the fire department to the residence of Mrs. Mary Kahle on Mannassah street, where a stable had caught fire and for a few moments threatened the surrounding property. The department was out in good order and made a remarkably fine run, for six minutes after the alarm was sent in the flames were extinguished. The loss was slight with no insurance.

It has been sagely remarked that "a newspaper is often more valuable to a community by reason of what it refuses to publish than what it allows to appear in its columns." That is true, but the "community" frequently fails to appreciate the real value of the service thus rendered. If the general public only knew the quality of a great portion of the "stuff" offered for publication and excluded for their benefit, they would contribute more liberally to the support of newspapers.

Frank Tobin met with a serious accident Saturday afternoon while at work on the Vandalia near Limerdale. He was standing on a car when the engine pulled up the slack in the train and the sudden jerk threw him from the car. He fell downward and would have landed under the moving train had he not grabbed a brake rod and suspended his fall. His feet, however, were caught in the bumper and both badly crushed, though amputation is not considered necessary.

Rev. J. E. Newhouse delivered the Memorial address by invitation of John Layton, G. A. R. Post, at Coatesville, to a house well filled with attentive listeners Sunday, May 26. The different orders of G. A. R., I. O. O. F. and K. P. from their several halls united and marched in a body to the M. E. church at 10:30 a. m., where they were greeted by a large congregation. The church was nicely decorated and the singing splendid. The pastor, Rev. Church, of Greencastle, announced the program, and made an admirable closing prayer.

The Sunday school classes of College Avenue church gave some interesting exercises last evening. The church was crowded up stairs and down and the program was greatly enjoyed. The scholars from the ages of three or four to twelve or thirteen gave recitations and songs, but the most interesting part was the collection reports. The children had worked hard to get their missionary money and the amounts and methods employed were read by the classes. Selling garden stuff, carrying wood, working in gardens, peddling candy and various other ways were reported. The total collection reported was $105. A collection taken up in the church brought the grand total up to $112.65. The following items are handed in concerning the meeting: Miss Maud Burk earned the largest sum of any pupil. The primary department of the school, which is composed of five or six classes, reported $27.00. The largest report of single class was made by Miss Belle Hanna's, the amount being over $14.00. Miss Gilmore's class, composed of seven girls, gave $13.00. The total amount given was $113.

Rev. J. E. Newhouse had quite an experience in rapid traveling Saturday evening. He was going to Coatesville and was at the Vandalia depot to take the local train leaving here at 6:17. While he was waiting for the train the fast flyer, the 6:03, pulled in, and by a desperate run from one end of the platform to the other, Mr. Newhouse caught the rear platform of the rear car. Once aboard he had to stay aboard, as that train goes through Coatesville so fast that the village isn't discernable, and the train wouldn't stop this side of Indianapolis for the president of the United States. Mr. Newhouse caught the fast mail train back, leaving Indianapolis at seven o'clock, and at eight o'clock, alive and well, was again standing on the Vandalia platform in this city, having been whisked through Coatesville twice in less than that many hours, and was just where he started. He stated last evening that he saved twenty cents in the operation and donated that to the missionary meeting in College Avenue church. Rev. Newhouse holds the record on quick trips to Indianapolis. On yesterday he drove over to Coatesville by the slower but more certain route of a gravel road. It was rumored yesterday that Mr. Newhouse sent a telegram ahead before he and Mr. Voliva left in their buggy asking the Coatesville people to flag them upon their arrival at Coatesville, but that was undoubtedly untrue.

The Woman's league of College Avenue church will meet in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. All ladies and friends of the church are cordially invited. The quotations at roll call are from the meetings of Mrs. Sigmourney, Mrs. Hemans and Lady Huntington.

The Equal Citizenship club will meet with Mrs. Albert Allen Tuesday, May 28 at 7 p. m. All interested in the study of the suffrage question are invited to be present.

Miss Blanche Kelly left at noon for Omaha, Neb., where she has secured a position as stenographer.

Will Murphy, of Crawfordsville, and Ted Lechay, of Indianapolis, visited friends here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, of Owen county, are guests of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Poole.

The close observing St. Louis Globe Democrat makes the pertinent comment that "the trouble with most of the street corner advocates of cheap money is that their financial wisdom is discredited by the fact that they are unable to get credit at the grocery stores."

Those who have been continually crying down Terre Haute as the "wickedest city on earth" should take note of the fact that last Sunday the sum of $19,000 was raised there to pay a debt on a new church. It would take several weeks of hard work to raise that amount of money for church purposes in some cities.

W. Q. GRESHAM has joined the silent majority. Mr. Gresham, as secretary of state, was a lamentable failure, mostly on account of the administration with which he affiliated. In temperament Mr. Gresham was too thoroughly American to make a good democrat, as the party of his unfortunate choice so late in life is constituted, and his last office was a constant worry to him rather than an interesting pleasure. As a soldier he was a success, and he carried wounds to his grave that no doubt hastened his death. Mr. Gresham had been a figure in Indiana affairs for many years, and there was a certain unknown quantity about him that made him a factor in most western political calculations. He had held many positions of trust, the most successful managed of which was the postmaster generalship. The deceased had many staunch friends in Indiana, who will be pained to learn of his death.

The most promiscuous and persistent thing afloat these days is a "card" on DePauw university. Every one with an idea seems bent on getting action, and there seems a disposition to let them have plenty of space. It is surely a live subject and one that apparently needs discussion. Some of the correspondents, however, are so far away from facts that their efforts are laughable.

A Card.

To the Editor of the BANNER TIMES:

The editor of the New York Tribune made a wise decision when he said, "The best thing for the trustees of DePauw university is to make a complete overhaul of the management of our financial affairs." We as students of DePauw university should aim to stay with her, and let her sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish, we ought to give our mind, heart and hands to old DePauw university. Her past must stand. Her future will stand if proper care and management is adopted. We as students love old DePauw university. When we hear the college bell ring, it inspires us with a sentiment that she will yet be victorious in the race of education. As Dr. Bassett addressed the general assembly one bright morning, "Students may change, professors may change, but DePauw university will never change."

We students of DePauw university represent a number of different states. Let us as we go out this year each one of us speak a good word for old DePauw university. DePauw university sends out nearly one hundred agents in all parts of the United States each year, who call in hundreds of different homes, and often come in contact face to face with the bloody bull dog. But how strange it seems to be, when the dog is informed that the agent is from DePauw university he is O. K. and the agent proceeds unharmed on his way. Then as we are asked about DePauw university let us speak a good word for old DePauw.

Gentlemen's Literary Club.

The Gentlemen's Literary club entertained guests last evening at ladies' hall. The occasion was the fourth annual reunion of the society, and it was made a pleasant and profitable evening to those attending. Delegates from the various literary clubs of the city were in attendance and the spacious parlors were very comfortably filled by nine o'clock. After an hour of social conversation and greeting in which formality was dispensed with, the guests and club members were seated, and President Waldo introduced as the special guest of the evening Hon. W. P. Fishback, of Indianapolis, who read a paper on "Early Village Life in the West." The paper was of about fifty minutes in length, and was brilliant, well conceived and very witty. Mr. Fishback chose as the groundwork of his story the days of his youth, which were spent in Batavia, the county seat of Clermont, Ohio, twenty-four miles east of Cincinnati. The droll descriptions of life in that village provoked much merriment, and the phases of humanity discussed were so varied and full of anecdotes that the interest did not lag. Mr. Fishback's bumble-bee story was, perhaps, his best illustration of human nature, and the scene he pictured of the fat country bumpkin who was made a scapegoat of by the other boys, "with his tight pants and short roundabout, and the bee's sting implanted where the pants were the tightest," was so vividly portrayed that it will be long remembered. The Clermonters proved to be men of mark all over the country, and the number of celebrated men who left that county was remarkably large.

At the close of the address the dining-room was thrown open, and each gentleman was presented with a card bearing the name of his company and the table they were to occupy. They were met at the door by ushers and rapidly seated. Refreshments of brick ice cream, cake and strawberries were served, after which the guests reassembled in the parlors for good byes. The committee managing the affair made it a successful function. The decorations of cut flowers were tastefully arranged, the red carnations of the club members being features. The fourth annual reunion will go down in history as a brilliant success.

Walsingham Caves.

On the sea-bound shore of Harrington Sound, Where Atlantic's white-capped waves Kiss all day long the tide-worn rocks, I found the Walsingham Caves.

The Walsingham Caves! O'er lakes within The stalactites hang like pointed stars, And the waters double each meter And spangle the deep with diamond bars.

O Walsingham Caves! my memory dwells In your silent grottoes, dark, profound— And under Tom Moore's old calabash tree On the shore of Harrington Sound.

O Caves, and Sound, and Ocean, adieu! The vision ye left on my memory Is fresh and bright as the day in May When the view first broke o'er the shore and sea.

WASHINGTON LETTER

THE LATEST POLITICAL GOSSIP FROM THE CAPITAL.

Interesting Doings of Public Men, and a Dish of Spice Here and There as Seen By Our Special Correspondent—Notes, Incidents, Etc.

WASHINGTON, May 27, 1895.

Mr. Cleveland has either changed his mind about again being the democratic candidate, or he is in possession of knowledge which enables him to play a shrewd trick on his party. He has agreed to throw the entire influence of the administration to ex-Secretary Whitney, if that gentleman will allow his name to go before the national convention. Opinion is divided as to whether Mr. Cleveland has become convinced of the impossibility of his own nomination, or knows that ex-Secretary Whitney has no desire to lead a democratic forlorn hope, and made the promise knowing that he would not be called on to keep it, and that the mention of Mr. Whitney's name would have a tendency to keep other possible candidates out of the field, thus enabling him to push his own candidacy.

Senator Aldrich is now the only republican member of the senate committee on rules, the term of ex-Senator Manderson, the other republican member, having expired March 4, last. A meeting of this committee will be held this week, and although Senator Blackburn, the chairman, finds himself too busy looking after his re-election to attend, a quorum will be present in the persons of Senators Aldrich, Harris and Gorman. The meeting was called to consider certain proposed changes in the senate rules. But no important action is probable, as Senator Aldrich will, there is reason to believe, enter a protest against any action being taken upon any matter of importance by the committee as at present organized, owing to its being dominated by representatives of the minority of the senate. It is believed that the committee will only transact routine business, leaving the question of changing the rules to be considered by the full committee on rules which will be named when the senate is re-organized next December.

Senator Sherman has gone to Ohio to preside over the republican state convention to be held at Zanesville, and the impression is general in Washington that in his speech to the convention he will outline the probable republican financial policy in next year's presidential campaign. Of course Senator Sherman will not presume to speak for the republican party, but he is known to have always opposed nonmetallism, which has been adopted by the administration, and any suggestion he makes looking towards practical bimetalism—as it is well known he considers the free coinage of silver at a ratio of sixteen to one as but another form of monometallism—will carry great weight with republicans everywhere. Senator Sherman is a firm believer in the extensive use of silver in our monetary system, and it is hoped, and believed, that he will suggest a plan that will be feasible and at the same time acceptable alike to conservative silver men and those who oppose the free coinage of silver under existing circumstances. There is one thing that can be set down in advance as certain of any plan proposed by Senator Sherman: it will provide only for dollars worth 100 cents and for the maintenance of the credit of the government under any and all circumstances. He has devoted a long life and great ability to the study of finance and what he says on the subject is always worthy of the country's attention and always gets it. It is daily becoming more apparent that it is to the republican party that the silver men must look for succor that amounts to anything; the democrats are all monometallists, one faction favoring a gold basis and the other a silver basis, while the republican party favors now, as it has always, bimetalism.

Senator Gorman has had little difficulty in knocking the opposition to his control of the democratic state machine of Maryland. He had hardly got his guns into position when Hon. Isidor Rayner, the man who thought he had a chance to become the anti-Gorman democratic candidate, threw up the sponge and announced his withdrawal. Senator Gorman was never worried about his democratic opponents, but he is considerably worried, although he would probably deny it to any but his closest friends, by his fears that the republicans will carry the state.

Mr. Cleveland took another step towards keeping democrats in office under the next administration, which will be republican, when he extended the classified civil service rules to cover all the chiefs of division and weather bureaux, except the chief of the weather bureau, under the department of agriculture. This is taken as an indication that all the chiefs of divisions in the other departments will soon be given the same protection. The motive of Mr. Cleveland would have been less open to criticism had he made the change before all the republican chiefs had been succeeded by democrats.

MISS ELLIOTT'S RECITAL.

Miss Florence Elliott, assisted by Mrs. Newhouse and Miss Adeline Rowley, gave a junior recital in music hall last evening. The program was of a high order and well carried out. Miss Elliott's work showed talent, industry and good teaching. She had a good conception of almost all of her numbers, a good attack and a very musicianly finish. The best thing of the evening was the Beethoven Concert in C major, which showed a genuine excellence, both in the understanding of the composition and the playing. The Bach number, too, was unusually well rendered, and also the concluding group of the program. Miss Rowley played the second pianoforte for the concerto and did the accompanying. The vocal part of the program was three duets by Mrs. Newhouse and Miss Adeline Rowley; these were done in good style, and were genuinely appreciated by the audience, especially Meyerbeer's "Age and Youth." These two ladies are always favorites with an audience both in solo work and in their duets.

The great predominating elements of Mr. Lincoln's peculiar character were, first, his great capacity and power of reason; second, his conscience and his excellent understanding; third, an exalted idea of the sense of right and equity; fourth, his intense veneration of the true and the good. His conscience, his heart and all the faculties and qualities of his mind bowed submissively to the despotism of his reason. He lived and acted from the standard of reason—that throne of logic, home of principle, the realm of deity in man. It is from this point Mr. Lincoln must be viewed. Not only was he cautious, patient and en during, not only had he concentration and great continuity of thought, but he had profound analytical power. His vi sion was clear, and he was emphatically the master of statement. His pursuit of the truth, as before mentioned, was indefatigable. He reasoned from well chosen principles with such clearness, force and directness that the tallest in tellects in the land bowed to him. He was the strongest man I ever saw, look ing at him from the elevated standpoint of reason and logic. He came down from that height with irresistible and crushing force. His Cooper institute and other printed speeches will prove this, but his speeches before the courts, especially the supreme court of Illinois, if they had been preserved, would de monstrate it still more plainly. Here he demanded time to think and prepare.

The office of reason is to determine the truth. Truth is the power of reason, and Lincoln loved truth for its own sake. It was to him reason's food.

Guided by Conscience.

Conscience, the second great quality of Mr. Lincoln's character, is that faculty which induces in us love of the just.
Its real office is justice; right and equity are its correlatives. As a court it is in session continuously. It decides all acts at all times. Mr. Lincoln had a deep, broad, living conscience. His rea son, however, was the real judge. It told him what was true or false, and therefore good or bad, right or wrong, just or unjust, and his conscience echoed back the decision. His conscience ruled his heart. He was always just before he was generous. It cannot be said of any mortal that he was always absolutely just. Neither was Lincoln always just, but his general life was. It follows that if Mr. Lincoln had great reason and great conscience he must have been an honest man, and so he was. He was rightfully entitled to the appellation "Honest Abe." Honesty was his polar star.

As illustrative of a combination in Mr. Lincoln's organization it may be said that his eloquence lay in the strength of his logical faculty, his su preme power of reasoning, his great un derstanding, and his love of principle; in his clear and accurate vision; in his cool and masterly statement of principles around which the issues gather, and in the statement of those issues and the grouping of the facts that are to carry conviction to the minds of men of every grade of intelligence. He was so clear that he could not be misunderstood or long misrepresented. He stood square and bolt upright to his convictions, and any one who listened to him would be convinced that he formed his thoughts and utterances by them. His mind was not exactly a wide, broad, generalizing and comprehensive mind, nor yet a ver satile, quick and subtle one, bounding here and there as emergencies deman ded, but it was deep, enduring, strong, like a majestic machine running in deep iron grooves, with heavy flanges on its wheels.

Mr. Lincoln himself was a very sen sitive man, and hence was unusually considerate of the feelings of other men, regardless of their rank, condition or station. At first sight he struck one with his plainness, simplicity of man ner, sincerity, candor and truthfulness.
He had no double interests and no over whelming dignity with which to chill the air around his visitor. He was al ways easy of approach and thoroughly democratic. He seemed to throw a charm around every man who ever met him.

To be in his presence was a pleasure, and no man ever left his company with injured feelings unless most richly de served.

His Honesty.

The universal testimony, "He is an honest man," gave him a firm hold on the masses, and they trusted him with a blind religious faith. His sad, melan choly face excited their sympathy, and when the dark days came it was their heart strings that intertwined and sustain ed him. With the sympathy and love of the people, Lincoln had unlimited power over them. He threw an invis ible and weightless harness over them and drove them through disaster and desperation to final victory. The trust and worship by the people of Lincoln were the result of his simple character.
He held himself not aloof from the masses. He became one of them. They feared together, they struggled together, they hoped together. Thus, melted and molded into one, they became one in thought, one in will, one in action. If Lincoln cautiously awaited the full de velopment of the last fact in the great drama before he acted, when longer waiting would be a crime, he knew that the people were determinedly at his back. Thus, when a blow was struck, it came with the unerring aim and power of a bolt from heaven. A natural king, not ruling men, but leading them along the drifts and trends of their own ten dencies, always keeping in mind the consent of the governed, he developed what the future historian will call the sublimest order of conservative states manship.

Whatever of life, vigor, force and power of eloquence his peculiar qualities gave him; whatever there was in a fair, manly, honest and impartial adminis tration of justice under law to all men at all times; whatever there was in a strong will in the right governed by ten derness and mercy; whatever there was in toil and sublime patience; whatever there was in these things or a wise com bination of them, Lincoln is justly en titled to in making up the impartial ver dict of history. These limit and define him as a statesman, as an orator, as an executive of the nation and as a man.
They developed in all the walks of his life; they were his law; they were his nature; they were Abraham Lincoln.

This long, bony, sad man floated down the Sangamon river in a frail canoe in the spring of 1831. Like a piece of drift wood, he lodged at last, without a his tory, strange, penniless and alone. In sight of the capital of Illinois in the fatigue of daily toil he struggled for the necessaries of life. Thirty years later this same peculiar man left the Sangam on river, backed by friends, by power, by the patriotic prayers of millions of people, to be the ruler of the greatest nation in the world.

Had it not been for his conservative statesmanship, his supreme confidence in the wisdom of the people, his ex treme care in groping his way among facts and before ideas, this nation might have been two governments today. The low and feeble circulation of his blood, his healthful irritability, which re sponded so slowly to the effects of stim uli, the strength of his herculean frame, his peculiar organism conserving its force, his sublime patience, his wonder ful endurance, his great hand and heart, saved this country from division when division meant its irreparable ruin.

The central figure of our national history,
the sublime type of our civilization, posterity, with the record of his career and actions before it, will decree that, whether Providence so ordained it or not, Abraham Lincoln was the man for the hour.

Tribute by a Colleague at the Bar.

"The weird and melancholy associa tion of eloquence and poetry had a strong fascination for Mr. Lincoln's mind. In the indulgence of this melancholy taste it is related of him that the poem, 'Im mortality,' he knew by rote and ap preciated very highly. He had a strange liking for the verses, and they bear a just resemblance to his fortune. Mr.
Lincoln at the time of his assassination was encircled by a halo of immortal glory such as had never before graced the brow of mortal man. He had driven treason from its capital city, had slept in the palace of its once proud and de fiant but now vanquished leader and had saved his country and its accursed glories of three-quarters of a century from de struction. He rode, not with the haughty and imperious brow of an ancient con queror, but with the placid complacency of a pure patriot, through the streets of the political Babylon of modern times.
He had ridden over battlefields immor tal in history when, in power at least, he was the leader. Having assured the misguided citizens of the south that he meant them no harm beyond a determi nation to maintain the government, he returned buoyant with hope to the ex ecutive mansion where for four long years he had been held, as it were, a prisoner.

"Weary with the stories of state, he goes to seek the relaxation of amuse ment at the theater; sees the gay crowd as he passes in; is cheered and graciously smiled upon by fair women and brave men; beholds the gorgeous parapher nalia of the stage, the brilliantly light ed scene, the arched ceiling with its grotesque and imitable figuring to heighten the effect and make the occasion one of unalloyed pleasure.
The hearts of the people beat in unison with his over a redeemed and ransomed land. A pause in the play—a faint pistol shot is heard. No one knows its significance save the hellish few who are in the plot. A wild shriek, such as murder wrings from the heart of woman, follows. The proud form of Mr. Lin coln has sunk in death. The scene is changed to a wild confusion such as no poet can describe, no painter delineate.
Well might the murdered have said and oft repeated:

" 'Tis the wink of an eye, 'tis the draft of a breath.
From the blossom of health to the paleness of death.
From the gilded saloon to the bier and the shroud—
Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?"

FURNISHING THE HALL.

It Ought to Invite Inspection and Convey an Air of Welcome.

The importance of the hall is recog nized. It tends to be an index of the whole house, and it should, however small, have an air of comfort. Articles should be there displayed to invite in spection and to convey generally an air of welcome. In large houses, especially those in the country, the hall makes one of the pleasantest lounges. There is an air of freedom in a comfortably furnis hed hall which no other part of the house possesses.

Most halls, even the smallest—passed when they are little more than a passage —may be made to look cozy. A dark stained floor, with a suitable oriental rug; a well covered wall paper, with the addition of a curtain at some convenient point; a small table and umbrella stand combined, a chair, a few prints on the walls and a rail for hats and coats put around a corner or in a cupboard out of sight if possible, for it is beyond the power of man to give any artistic effect

HALL TABLE AND UMBRELLA STAND.

to the ordinarily loaded hat and coat stand, will be found a great advance upon the usual oilcloth and cocoanut mat and the cheerless looking varnished marble paper, which still obtain in many of the smaller houses, says Decora tor and Furnisher, which illustrates a combination table and hat stand that af fords a pleasing substitute in narrow halls for the more pretentious and tower ing hatrack.

Where space permits the addition of a few pieces of furniture, such as a tall clock or oak buffet, a china cabinet or bookcase, a few chairs, etc., should be introduced. In the larger halls, with galleries and passages opening out of them, where light is abundant, the whole should be drawn together by keep ing all details of much one depth or tone of color, and the colors themselves limited in number.

In dark halls a yellow paper would assist in giving light, and the ceilings should be light. If paneled with mold ings, it is a great improvement.

It is seldom but a curtain of some kind can be introduced, and it is always of the greatest assistance in softening the otherwise hard lines of the architectural details. Anything, in fact, that will soften outlines and give a few shadows may and should be introduced, such as palms, ferns, or even porcelain jars, with a few dried grasses or reeds. In a large hall a screen near the fireplace is almost a necessity. Too much attention cannot be paid to apparently trifling de tails, such as lighting up a dark corner with, for instance, a bust, a figure or a light porcelain vase, or the judicious prominence being given to some particu lar piece of furniture, or the placing of a picture on an easel in front of some piece of drapery, says the authority quoted. In fact, let the decorator do his work ever so well, the general good ef fect may be lost, to a large extent, by want of taste and purpose in the dis posal of the furniture by those who come after him.

A Receptacle For Veils.

tightly as to crush them. To make the box take a piece of paper 13 inches long and 10 wide. Cut out squares of 2 1/2 inches from each of the four corners and carefully fold down the projecting sides, in order to make them stand up evenly and smoothly when bent back and upright. Thread a large needle with silver cord, and lace up the corners. Make the cover a trifle larger than the bot tom and the sides an inch in depth.
Lace the corners and tie in long loops.
Decorate the box in water colors, and on the top print in fancy letters, "Trifles Light as Air." A little pad of china silk should be made to lay in the bot tom of the box. This plentifully sprin kled with sachet powder will give the veils a delicate perfume.—Modern Pris cilla.

The Latest Bonnets.

The most recent styles for evening and afternoon occasions are all black bonnets made with flat crowns or shapes of net closely spangled and trimmed with rosettes of net or mousseline de soie beaded on the edge, and gauzy wings of wired mousseline, with span gles. Where flowers are used they are made in the form of rosettes.

Artificial flowers in millinery include violets and primroses and large silk peonies, but roses occupy the prominent place. Foliage without flowers is a fashionable garniture.
